

AT THE BOOKSTORE

I saw Wittgenstein's children's dictionary at the bookstore yesterday.
It cost $50.

Must be worth the price—
maybe it contains the secret code to his genius.

—I didn't buy it.